Frequently Asked Questions

Do parents have access to student information?

The Department of Education's Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) protects the privacy of education records and establishes the right of students to review their records. Any student enrolled at Jones Junior College assumes the rights formerly accorded parents unless he/she is a dependent under section 152 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954. Jones Junior College assumes that all students are independents unless otherwise notified by the student within five (5) calendar days after the completion of the registration process.

Do parents receive copies of student grades?

No. Students are notified of mid-term and final grades through myJones located on the JC web page.

Is class attendance mandatory?

Regular class attendance is a requisite if students are to succeed in their classes. All students are expected to attend class meetings regularly and promptly. There is a policy of no cuts at Jones County Junior College. Since there are times when students must be absent from class, they should contact instructors prior to the absence if at all possible. Students are responsible for all work missed regardless of the cause of the absence. On the 7th absence (3-day-a-week-classes) or the 5th absence (2-day-a-week-classes) the student will be dropped from the course, and a grade of "W" will be recorded. (For evening classes, online classes, career, and technical classes, please refer to the Student Handbook).

Who advises students on class schedules?

Each student is assigned a faculty advisor with whom he/she will meet periodically. Advisors assist students by helping to plan a schedule, by providing career information, and by encouraging academic endeavors. Students retain their advisors for the duration of enrollment at Jones. Students wishing to change their majors should submit a request on the myJones Portal.

How much does it cost to attend Jones?

For current fees, please refer to Tuition and Fees at www.jcc.edu/businessoffice/.

What are the differences between grants, loans, and scholarships?

Scholarships and grants are both considered "gift-aid" awards. In other words, they do not have to be paid back. On the other hand, loans require future repayment. All scholarships, grants, and loans have certain requirements. For more information on the types of financial aid available at Jones, go to Financial Aid on the Home page or contact the Financial Aid Office at 601-477-4040.

What types of scholarships are available?

Scholarships are available to Jones students from a wide variety of sources. The following is a list of some of the sources available to our students: ACT - Academic Excellence - Career and Technical Excellence - Junior Miss/Miss Hospitality - Service scholarships include annual staff/newspaper, athletics, band, cheerleader, and choir. These are based on tryouts, auditions, and number of scholarships available.

What are the major causes of poor academic performance?

According to the American College Health Association, the top 5 reasons for poor academic performance are the following:

Excessive Absences

Stress

Sickness - (Cold, flu, sore throat, etc.)

Concerns about family and friends

Relationship difficulties

Tips for College Parents

1. Teach them how; Don't do it for them

Students must learn how to function on their own, which won't happen as long as they know the parent will get it done for them. Offer guidance and support while allowing the student to become independent and self-reliant.

2. Refer

The Office of Student Affairs is available as a resource to students. Encourage your student to see a Dean if they are experiencing any problem on campus.

3. Discuss Academic Goals and Expectations Ahead of Time

Ask them what they hope to accomplish academically during their first year. It is important for them to take ownership of their education, yet it's okay for you to have clear expectations such as regular class attendance and best efforts in the classroom.

4. Plan Your Communication

Do you want a planned time to talk or do you want to be more spontaneous? A cell phone can be a wonderful way to keep in touch, or it can be, as one student described, an "electronic leash." Resist the "helicopter syndrome". Allow your child room to breathe. E-mail and instant messaging are wonderful ways to keep in touch. Just don't count on a reply to every message.

5. Discuss Financial Goals and Expectations

Develop a tentative budget and be clear about who will pay for what. For example, some parents pay for books and supplies, while their child is responsible for incidental expenses such as snacks, movies, and CDs. Other students are responsible for earning a percentage of their tuition. Teach your child about responsible use of credit and debit cards.

6. Expect Conflicting Emotions

For you and the student - The excitement and joy about opportunities awaiting your child are mixed with waves of nostalgia and a sense of loss. Your child, like you, is being pulled between past, present, and future ... one day exclaiming, "Leave me alone; I'm 18 years old," and the next complaining, "You're never around when I need you." Your child's ups and downs are a sign of the ambivalence of this transitional time.

7. Encourage Involvement

This isn't high school anymore; no need to join every club under the sun to try to impress somebody. Help your student figure out what they're passionate about, and then pursue it. JONES has more than 30 clubs and organizations. Getting involved is a great way to meet people with similar interests, and there are many life lessons to be learned outside of the classroom.

8. Discuss Behavior Expectations

For some teenagers, the unbridled freedom that college life affords can lead to unwise choices that can have damaging and far-reaching consequences. Talk to your student about alcohol and drug values, sexual behavior, and other core values. Make sure your student reads and understands the Code of Conduct at JONES.

9. Encourage Persistence

College is tough academically, financially, and socially. Although parents remember back to "the best years of their lives," the young adult years can involve some hard times, many during the student's first year in college. JONES offers counseling services through the Student Success Center to help students through some of these times and to help students continue pursuing their academic and career goals. Remind your student that "tough times don't last, but tough people do."

Class Attendance Policy

Regular class attendance is a requisite if students are to succeed in their classes. All students are expected to attend class meetings regularly and promptly. There is a policy of no cuts at Jones County Junior College. Since there are times when students must be absent from class, they should contact instructors prior to the absence if at all possible. Students are responsible for all work missed regardless of the cause of the absence. Students who miss an announced test will receive a zero on the test unless the instructor and the Vice President of Student Affairs deems the absence to be of a justifiable nature.

When a student's absences total the number of days the class is scheduled to meet per week, the Office of Student Affairs will notify the student that absenteeism is jeopardizing the student's chances of success in the classroom. On the 7th absence (3-day-a-week-classes,) or the 5th absence (2-day-a-week-classes), the student will be dropped from the course, and a grade of "W" will be recorded. (For evening classes, career, and technical classes, please refer to the Student Handbook.)

The student may appeal to the Office of Student Affairs for readmission. The Dean will either render a decision or the appeal will be sent to the Student Affairs Committee. All appeals for re-entering must be made immediately. NOTE: Please refer to the student handbook for additional information regarding summer school absences.

The college does not give excused absences.
