

Named Gift Opportunities

A variety of named gift and endowment opportunities (to recognize an individual, corporation, or organization) are available to Jones College donors. These include naming opportunities for buildings, academic programs, scholarships, and endowments. Gifts may be designated for immediate needs or for endowments. Named funds include cash gifts and pledges over a five-year period. Other named gift opportunities can be developed according to donor preference. The Foundation Office can assist donors who have specific interests.

Because income generated by an endowment will be used only to support the designated areas, gifts to endowments are gifts that keep on giving.
